James M. Sullivan has litigated a wide range of matters before state and federal courts across the country, including the United States Supreme Court, a number of U.S. Circuit Courts, and various federal and state trial courts. His experience includes writing trial and appellate briefs, taking expert and fact witness depositions, and participating in all aspects of trial preparation. Mr. Sullivan also has experience evaluating environmental, products liability, and other litigation exposure for potential corporate acquisitions. He has extensive experience with multidistrict litigation, mass tort proceedings, class actions, Daubert issues, punitive damages, choice-of-law, federal preemption, and civil and appellate procedure in general. He also has experience in the Firm's environmental practice, including with issues arising under the Clean Air Act and Clean Water Act.

Mr. Sullivan is co-leader of the Firm's E-Discovery group. He has guided clients through all phases of corporate discovery. He routinely works with clients on corporate fact investigation, document preservation, preparation of written discovery responses, and preparation of company witnesses for testifying at depositions or trials. He negotiates protective orders and other joint filings with opposing counsel, and has briefed and argued a broad range of motions arising from the discovery process such as motions regarding scope of discovery, confidentiality, and privilege issues. His experience includes serving as ESI Liaison counsel for defendants in federal multidistrict litigation and coordinated state court litigation. He has supervised document productions ranging from thousands to tens of millions of pages of documents and regularly counsels clients regarding information governance, litigation preparedness, and E-Discovery issues. His E-Discovery practice is informed by his broad experience in pretrial, trial, and appellate practice. In his combined experience prior to and with Hollingsworth LLP, he has participated in more than twenty jury trials, numerous bench trials, and in more than a hundred appeals.

Mr. Sullivan has presented at national E-Discovery conferences, and published regarding E-Discovery, civil procedure, and appellate procedure in legal magazines such as ALM's Legaltech News, DRI's In-House Defense Quarterly, and DRI's For the Defense. He reports on significant appellate jurisdiction and procedure cases from the District of Columbia Circuit and Federal Circuit as Regional Editor of Certworthy (the newsletter of the DRI Appellate Advocacy Committee). He is a member of The Sedona Conference. He annually returns to his alma mater Georgetown University Law Center to serve as an E-Discovery coach to the judges, attorneys, discovery vendors, and other practitioners who attend Georgetown's eDiscovery Training Academy. Mr. Sullivan is recognized in the 2020 Washington, DC edition of Super Lawyers for E-Discovery and was listed in the 2018 and 2017 Washington, DC editions of Super Lawyers as a
